Costs may vary depending on the size of the group, the length of the activity, and the level of training required. Costs, for example, can range from about $15.00 per person for a high-ropes experience, to about $45.00 per person for a half-day event.

The exact price for a challenge course activity will be determined by the challenge course manager based upon the requirements for each retreat group. A DEADLINE for the final adjustment of the number of course participants, and for the addition and/or deletion of challenge course activities, will be determined by the challenge course manager and listed on the contract.
